1. The first group of people who are not allowed to enter the country are those who are on the "no-fly" list. This list is maintained by the Department of Homeland Security and includes individuals who are suspected of being involved in terrorism or other activities that could threaten the security of the United States. The "no-fly" list is not publicly disclosed, but it is known that it includes a wide range of individuals, including some who are innocent and who have been added to the list by mistake.
